

Oil and Natural Gas Stimulate Illinois Economic and Job Growth

Oil and natural gas are driving the U.S. economy through a major energy boom and that boom is rippling through the economy of Illinois, supporting business activity across the state. This finding grows out of a new American Petroleum Institute survey of domestic oil and natural gas vendors,¹ which offers a glimpse into the job and business creation engine that is the current oil and natural gas industry. The survey shows that at least 932 businesses, spread across all 18 of Illinois' congressional districts, are part of the larger oil and natural gas supply chain.

The survey's snapshot of state-by-state activity reinforces the impressive level of industry success throughout the country that is documented in a recent PriceWaterhouseCoopers study conducted for the American Petroleum Institute.² That study found that the oil and natural gas industry in Illinois supports some 263,700 jobs, which is 3.6 percent of the state's total employment. The amount of Illinois labor income supported by the oil and natural gas industry comes to $15.7 billion annually. That's 3.8 percent of the state's total labor income.

Although Illinois is not a top U.S. energy producer these job and labor income figures demonstrate that the people of Illinois enjoy significant benefits from energy development.³ The benefits show up in the state's salary statistics as well. Thus, while the average annual salary in Illinois across all industries and sectors is $52,625, the average oil and gas industry salary (excluding gas stations) is substantially higher—$81,633 annually. Overall the industry supports $33.3 billion of the Illinois economy. That's 5.1 percent of the state's total economic activity.

Illinois also benefits from the production of oil and natural gas from shales and so-called "tight formations," energy development that uses the proven engineering technologies of hydraulic fracturing, or "fracking," and horizontal drilling. Total jobs supported by these activities in Illinois reached 38,652 in

The survey was distributed to API members in January 2014 to collect information for the period October 2012 to September 2013. Included are companies that provide goods and services for onshore oil and natural gas development, whether as operators, contractors, service companies, suppliers, or vendors.
 2. PriceWaterhouseCoopers, "Economic Impacts of the Oil and Natural Gas Industry on the U.S. Economy in 2011," Washington, D.C., July 2013. Prepared for API using the IMPLAN input-output modeling system, based on 2011 U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis data.

Grainger

At 2013 sales of $9.4 billion, Grainger is North America's leading broad-line supplier of maintenance, repair, and operating products, with operations in Asia, Europe, and Latin America. Grainger partners with oil and gas customers by supplying more than 1.2 million available products to help them explore, extract, produce, process, transport, and refine their goods. Grainger also provides a comprehensive set of services and solutions in the realm of safety, inventory management, and eCommerce, to help save time and money and ensure a safe work environment in potentially tough hazardous conditions.

Grainger offers industry-leading safety service through a team of specialists who focus on everything from technical expertise to training and services, helping companies achieve compliance. "We are our customers' primary safety supplier."

Grainger has been in business for nearly 90 years. The company's leading supply chain is supported by 18 distribution centers and nearly 400 branches. More than 4,000 knowledgeable sales and customer service team members help serve more than 1.4 million U.S. customers through a deep network of global sourcing capacities.
