

Oil and Natural Gas Stimulate Texas

Economic and Job Growth

Oil and natural gas are driving the U.S. economy through a major energy boom and that boom is rippling through the economy of Texas, supporting business activity across the state. This finding grows out of a new American Petroleum Institute survey of domestic oil and natural gas vendors,¹ which offers a glimpse into the job and business creation engine that is the current oil and natural gas industry. The survey shows that at least 11,033 businesses, spread across all 36 congressional districts in Texas, are part of the larger oil and natural gas supply chain.

The survey's snapshot of state-by-state activity reinforces the impressive level of industry success throughout the country that is documented in a recent PriceWaterhouseCoopers study conducted for the American Petroleum Institute.² The study found that the oil and natural gas industry in Texas supports some 1,938,700 jobs, which is 13.6 percent of the state's total employment. The amount of Texas labor income supported by the oil and natural gas industry comes to $144 billion annually. That's 18.7 percent of the state's total labor income.

Another way in which the oil and gas industry benefits the people of Texas, in addition to employment and labor income, is in terms of salary.³ While the average annual salary in Texas across all industries and sectors is $52,146, the average salary in the oil and gas industry (excluding gas stations) is very significantly higher—$117,272 annually.³ Overall the industry supports $308.3 billion of the Texas economy. That's 23.2 percent of the state's total economic activity.

Texas ranks 1st in oil and 1st in natural gas production.⁴ That makes it the nation's top energy-producing state.

Texas particularly benefits from the production of oil and natural gas from shales and so-called "tight formations," energy development that uses the proven engineering technologies of hydraulic fracturing, or "fracking," and horizontal
